Mystery Surrounds Strange Killing Which Is Baffling the Police of Alameda.

ALAMEDA, July 18.—Two men suspected of the murder of Henry Bangs, early this morning were arrested today by the Alameda police and are now in the city jail. The men arrested are:

JAMES A. DWYER, former borax worker, residence West Alameda.

WILLIAM JENTZEN, hod carrier, residence West Alameda.

The men are in jail and the police authorities refuse to allow anyone to interview them, nor will they tell why suspicion falls on these men.

When arrested Dwyer and Jentzen were quiet and made no resistance. They were found on Brush street, West Alameda.

Denies the Crime
Jentzen contented himself by saying that he was in Oakland all night, and Dwyer said he was at home all night. They denied all knowledge of the killing and said they never had trouble with Bangs.

Story of Crime
Henry Bangs, a Dane, 45 years of age, employed as a watchman by the Pacific Coast Borax Works of West Alameda, was found dead in the yard in the rear of the works this morning about 7 o'clock. The police say the man was murdered.

The entire plant, was destroyed and all the contents. The loss will probably be in excess of $20,000.

The cause of the fire at this time has not been ascertained, but there is a suspicion that it was of incendiary origin as this is the third time that the place has been on fire since its establishment two years ago. By the destruction of the packing house a large number of people have been thrown out of employment.

COLLEGE GIRLS NOW IN SCHOOL SCANDAL

Superintendent Greeley Caught in a Darkened Room at Night With One of the Women Teachers.

LOS ANGELES, July 18.—The taking of testimony in the investigation of the charges preferred against Superintendent J. P. Greeley of the Whittier Reform school by Trustees C. C. Desmond was resumed today by the State Board of Charities and Corrections. The specific accusations made by Trustees Desmond now number twenty-five and many officials and employees of the school have been interviewed.

SENT WASH THERE.

It was charged by some of the witnesses that the daughters of Matron Thompson had sent their laundry from the State University at Berkeley to the Whittier school, that in agent of the assistant superintendent found Superintendent Greeley and a woman teacher in a darkened room at 9 o'clock at night, that three officers of the school kept a stock of intoxicating liquor in their quarters and that the tobacco habit and immoral practices are prevalent among the boys. Officers of the cadet corps and employees of the institution testified that the discipline at the school was very bad.

SAYS WATCHMAN WAS DRUNK.
W. Almont Gules, secretary of the board, conducted the questioning for the prosecution, while E. C. Cooper, secretary to Governor Gillett conducted the cross-examination.

Superintendent Greeley asked to be allowed an attorney, but the board has agreed to conduct the investigation without the aid of outside counsel.

Captain L. E. Wade, the first witness today stated that Captain Veighley, a night watchman, had been drunk and that he, Wade had reported it several times to the superintendent but nothing was done about it.

Captain Charles A. Vanderpool who was for twelve years connected with Wisconsin State Industrial school said that the discipline at Whittier is not quite as good as in the other school.

BOYS USE TOBACCO.
Fifty per cent of the boys, Captain Vanderpool said use tobacco. Whenever he discovers them doing so he reports them to the superintendent and the offenders have been punished.

The boys also swear considerably for which he gives punishment himself.

The commissary captain, J. H. Tynch asserted that there is practically no discipline in the school.

Major Truman Cole, military instructor, against whom some of the charges have been made testified that the military drill is good.

DENIES USE OF LIQUOR.
He positively denied knowledge of officers using liquors on the grounds or that he and two other officers had kept a supply of liquor in the building.

Major Truman said the use of tobacco was not uncommon among the boys.

Just before noon Mr. Desmond brought out the fact that Mrs. Grace Willis, a former teacher, had written letters to inmates, that Mrs. Willis was discharged May 25 and her husband, who was also an officer, was discharged ten days later.

NEW TURN IN THE RUEF CASE

Judge Lawlor Will Hear Contempt Motion Against Private Detective of Spreckels' Prosecution Next Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, JULY 18.—WHAT WOULD APPEAR TO BE A DELIBERATE ATTEMPT ON THE PART OF "GUM-SHOE" BURNS AND HIS CORPS OF SLIPPERY-HEEL DETECTIVES TO INFLUENCE TALESMEN WHO WILL BE CALLED TO SERVE IN THE RUEF TRAIL CASE WAS UNCOVERED THIS MORNING, WHEN ATTORNEY HENRY ACH, REPRESENTING THE FORMER BOSS, FILED PAPERS IN JUDGE LAWLOR'S COURT IN CONNECTION WITH THE ISSUANCE OF AN ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY WILLIAM J. BURNS SHOULD NOT BE PUNISHED FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Judge Defers Action
JUDGE LAWLOR DID NOT ISSUE THE ORDER, BUT CONTINUED THE MATTER UNTIL MONDAY AFTERNOON AT 4 O'CLOCK, WHEN HE WILL HEAR WHAT BOTH SIDES HAVE TO SAY.

Affidavit by Ruef
THE PAPERS IN THE CASE ARE IN THE FORM OF AFFIDAVITS, THE FIRST OF WHICH IS SWORN TO BY ABRAHAM RUEF.

It then refers to the trivial cases in which Ruef, Patrick Calhoun and Toney L. Ford are defendant. It states that 1800 names have been drawn from the jury box and that a list of these are in the hands of Wm. J. Burns, J. G. Lawler, and C. C. Schindler, the latter two being detectives employed by Burns. Ruef avers that these men have been "abusing the process of the court by delaying by every means to defeat the cause of the defendant."

Saw Talesmen
The affidavit goes on to say a part that the detectives represent them-

Erickson of Seattle was the lowest of five bidders whose proposals were opened today at the Navy Department for the construction of a granite and concrete dry dock at the United States navy yard, Puget Sound, Washington, for which Congress appropriated $2,000,000. Erickson's bid being the lowest for the 887-foot dock, the likelihood that it will be awarded the contract is very good.

The bidders and their proposals were: Erickson, $1,999,196; Wastlake Construction Company, $2,222,000; and $2,100,000; C. J. # BIG BENEFIT AT DORA FOR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

MRS. J. F. LYNCH.

—Rushnell Photo.

Entire Police Department in Action to Add to Benificent Fund

At 10:30 o'clock this morning the crowd began to gather in Dora Park, where the policemen are holding a successful benefit to the sale of the widows and orphans. The fund has been organized by the members of the various committees, and these are the badges of authority. They replace the star for today.

The wheel of fortune is under the big willow tree near the theater and the shelves in front are weighed down with donations from the merchants and the members of the force. A handsome diamond brooch is to be raffled, besides quantities of hand-painted china, cut glass vases, small pieces of furniture and glassware.

UNDER WILLOW TREE

Under the same big willow tree is the ice cream stand and the direction of Mrs. Charles McCarthy. She is assisted by Mrs. R. O. Benson, Mrs. J. F. Lynch, Mrs. Nora Patterson, and Miss Hazel Pardee. One of the chief attractions of this hour is Captain Lynch, who is expected to be the Beau Brummel of the department. There was much difficulty in securing his presence at the booth because of the demands which have been made upon him by other commitments. But it was probably owing to his wife's influence that he has been able to spare some of his precious time.

LUNCH COUNTER DECORATED

The hot lunch counter and the dance hall have been decorated in the national colors and potted palms.

Nearly all the stands are decorated in red, white and blue and the committee have displayed excellent taste and judgment in their arrangement. The fund has been organized by the members of the various committees, and these are the badges of authority. They replace the star for today.

"CHIEF" PILLINGS.

James Pillings is acting as chief of police for the day and in spite of the new dignity which has been heaped upon him was seen, the women declare, holding suspiciously around the treasures of the wheel of fortune. These treasures are safely guarded by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Mary Tobin.

At the grab bag, in charge of Mrs. P. T. Flynn, many articles of real value are on display.

Lots of fun is being furnished by the Keweenaw Club, where Judge Mortimer Smith, George Samuels, W. J. Garry, James G. Quinn, will preside. The gravest offense is considered the refusal to purchase a chance on any of the handsome prizes which are being raffled, for anyone who refuses to take a chance is brought before the court, from which there is no appeal, and a fine is imposed which is a trifle more than the cost of the ticket. But there are very few offenders, for the prizes offered are unusually attractive and on each ticket several articles are offered.

STORMY SESSION PROMISED FOR POLICE COURT TUESDAY

Complaints to Be Heard Against Alleged Objectionable Family

One of the liveliest sessions in the history of police court business in this city is expected in the prosecuting attorney's office next Tuesday morning.

On the day in question George Webb and his family of 1135 East Seventeenth street are to be in appearance in answer to a summons from that office for the purpose of giving an explanation concerning a petition signed by their neighbors who ask for aid in ridding the community of the Webb family, included in the petition as general nuisances. Louis Bishman and Charles Benson, who live in the same block with the Webbs, and who are signers to the petition, have also been summoned to be in attendance Tuesday morning. When petitioners and accused meet there will be trouble, provided all of the truth has been told concerning the alleged objectionable family.

GETS WIND OF CASE.

Prosecuting Attorney Ezra Deane has informed Prosecuting Attorney William Hennessey that he has learned of the importance of the case on Tuesday. In fact he and Mrs. Deane are to go to Lake Tahoe for a week's outing Tuesday, however, failed to inform Hennessey of the meeting to come, and it is probable that Hennessey will find it convenient to be in some other section of the city on Tuesday, provided he gets a line on what is expected to come off.

Bishman and Benson appeared at the prosecuting attorney's office this morning and, after presenting the petition, related the circumstances of the case. Deane returned the petition as well as a letter to the Webbs, telling his visitors to deliver the letter and to return Tuesday with the petition which is to be presented to Hennessey. Deane did not get any of the cause of the petitioners with the exception of Bishman and Benson.

Having reputation. According to these two men, Webb and his wife are objectionable as are the children. They are branded as a detestable family and quiet of the neighborhood, which, it is alleged, they keep in but never all of the time. They make life miserable, it is alleged, for all of the children in the block, the Webb children, leading to other children when they could reach them on the street and standing in their way when they could not.

When the petitioners and the accused come together Tuesday morning it is more than probable that the entire act of the meeting to come will be out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

He was taken at once to the Central Emergency hospital, where he was pronounced dead by the surgeon at 2:30 p. m. ## THREE FINALS WON IN OLYMPICS

United Kingdom Representatives Carry Off Honors in Athletic Events Today.

LONDON, July 18.—The Saturday afternoon crowds filling the lower tiers of the grand stand at the stadium this afternoon had an opportunity of venting their enthusiasm over the outcome of the three finals with which the day's sport in the Olympic games was opened. All three were won by the United Kingdom.

Russell, United Kingdom, took the 3200 meter steeplechase with his team and the only outsider to challenge Great Britain's supremacy was X. Y. A. C. who, although handicapped by some fast, put up a good race and came in third.

Somewhat to the surprise of the experts the United Kingdom also took first and second place in the final of the 200 meter breast stroke swimming race. In this event Holman was the winner, with Robinson second.

It had been expected that Teddy Hamman would walk off with this event, but he did not even get a place. Hamman, Sweden, finished him for third.

In the final heat of the City of London police was first, with the team made up of Liverpool policemen was second. The Metropolitan police got third place.

YOUNG WIFE KILLS SELF IN BED

Baby Found Playing With a Revolver by Side of Mother, Whom Ill Health Caused to Commit Rash Act.

NEW YORK, July 18.—In the home of Samuel Friedland, a real estate dealer of Brooklyn, his wife, Susan, was found dead with a bullet hole in the right temple. By her side was a two-year-old son, Abraham, who had in his hand a revolver with which he was playing. For a time it was supposed that the baby had found the pistol in the apartments and had killed his mother.

Mr. Friedland, when he reached home, said he was sure it was suicide because his wife often said she would either have to recover her health speedily or she would commit suicide. Mrs. Friedland was 28 years old.

HIGHWAYMAN WAS IN GREAT HURRY

RAYWARD, July 18.—J. E. Kelley, Oakland, was injured Sunday morning by a hold-up near the Southern Pacific depot.

Charles Mataway, a suspect, was arrested last night by Constable Ramon Matway in a ranch hold-up, employed by the H. W. Meek ranch.

Kelley was nearing the railroad station to board the 6:30 a. m. train when a stranger walked up to him and, drawing a pistol, demanded all his money. After getting the money the robber ran at a great speed with the booty.

CAR COLLIDES WITH WAGON

A wagon, belonging to the West Coast Shoe company, was struck by a C. L. B. car at 12th and Broadway streets this afternoon, and the driver, J. E. Brun, was thrown to the street and sustained a painful scalp wound.

Brun says that he was driving an old wagon loaded with shoes when he was struck by the car. He could get out of the wagon, but he could not get out of the car. Brun resides at 923 1/2 Park street, Alameda.

LEHNHARDT'S SUNDAY DESSERT

—I'm going to be rushed Sunday!

—It's going to be a hot day and I want all orders for Sunday desserts placed by phone tonight if possible in order to enable me to arrange my deliveries according to the dinner hours of my patrons.

—The dessert planned is a delicious one, crushed peaches, combined in a brick with raspberry ice and vanilla ice cream.

—We use the juice of the peach, freezing it with cream which makes a wonderfully fine, smooth ice cream containing the true flavor of the fresh fruit.

—I have made quite a study of fresh fruit flavors and have been able to produce remarkably delicious creams from the pure juice of certain selected fruits.

—Of all fruits, however, I have met with the greatest success with peaches which are particularly fine this time of year.

—My special tomorrow will be served in bricks as described before at 80c a brick, or the plain peach ice cream will be sold at 75c a quart—No extra charge for delivery and all orders will be packed in freezers and will keep for hours.

—The best way to get this special will be to telephone Oakland 497 or Home Phone A 3497 tonight, or at the latest before 9 a. m. tomorrow.

—Our delivery wagons leave at 9 a. m. and again at 2 p. m. Between those hours we have special emergency wagons to make deliveries to those who wait until the last minute, but I can't guarantee deliveries by then if we are rushed.

—Now, mark my word, it will be hot tomorrow and ice cream will be the only dessert to have. So order yours tonight and get it off your mind.

SAYS WIFE HAD MEN VISITORS

San Francisco Business Man Secures Decree of Separation in Secretly Conducted Divorce.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—With all the secrecy possible, Milton H. Cook, manager of the H. N. Cook Belling company and a wealthy San Francisco businessman, secured an interlocutory decree of divorce last Saturday, the case being heard behind closed doors in Judge Treut's court. The evidence that was given was kept a close secret, but from the nature of the charges in the complaint it must have been of a character possessing a slightly sensational time.

In his complaint he charged his wife with leaving home at night when he was away and with refusing to say where she had been. He also complained that she received numerous men visitors that were "unacceptable and obnoxious" to him.

The climax of their marital troubles occurred a short time ago. Cook had planned to make a business trip to Los Angeles, but the plan fell through and on returning home found there a state of affairs at which he took extreme umbrage. An intensely stormy scene ensued, and was followed by divorce proceedings instituted by him.

GREAT SECRECY IN CASE.

The case was conducted with the greatest rapidity. The day following the filing of the complaint and answer it was brought up in court. It was heard at noon Saturday, when the building was deserted. The doors were locked. Visitors were excluded and in an incredibly brief time the interlocutory decree was granted. Then every effort was made to keep the matter a secret. The Cook residence at 2612 Webster street was closed. The many servants were dismissed and such was the secrecy that the neighbors thought the family had gone away on a vacation. No one imagined that a divorce had figured in the family affairs.

IMPAIRED HIS HEALTH.
Among Cook's other charges against his wife was that she pursued a system of upbraiding and faultfinding that made his life miserable and impaired his health. He declared she used insulting language toward him, calling him a "fool," "cur" and an "ass." His claims were that, though he provided her with the assistance of servants, she would not take proper care of the home, allowing it to remain in a filthy and insanitary condition and neglected the children. Another of his charges was that she gave the children strong and injurious medicines, and that when he remonstrated she responded with a tirade of abuse.

PROPERTY SETTLEMENT MADE.
There was no fight over the settlement of property. An agreement was reached out of court. The husband was given the custody of a son, Harold Nelson Cook, aged 5 years and 7 months, and the wife obtained custody of a daughter, Pauline, a baby of 1 year and 7 months. Each parent will be allowed to visit the child in the custody of the other parent for the period of a half hour between 10 a. m. and noon every two weeks. At these interviews the parent or some other person designated by the custodian must be present.

REV. I. W. WILLIAMS TESTIFIES.
Rev. I. W. Williams, Huntington, W. Va., testified as follows: "I have been called to examine the case of Milton H. Cook, a man of great wealth and high social position, who is suffering from nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble, and am here to testify that you claim for it." Said by all druggists.

RAILROAD DEVICE PROVES SUCCESS

Train Going Fifty Miles an Hour Automatically Stopped Within 1100 Feet.

CHICAGO, July 18.—A train on the main line of the Burlington road, going at a speed of fifty miles an hour, ran past a black signal which stood at "danger" and was automatically brought to a full stop within 1100 feet. While the test was being made a score of the foremost operating men of the United States, representing railroads from coast to coast, either rode on the train or watched from the side of the track the operation of the new automatic device for stopping trains when engine crews have disregarded a warning signal. The experiment was conducted for the benefit of a joint committee of the American Railway Association, of which F. C. Rice of the Burlington is chairman. The joint committee is made up of members of the train rules and safety device committee of the association.

OPERATES BLOCK SIGNAL.
The new device operates the block signal, and when that is at danger a spring is set which opens a valve on the locomotive and sets the airbrakes. A few seconds later the signal changes to a green light and the train is allowed to proceed. The test was made at a speed of twenty miles an hour, when the train was stopped within 100 feet of the signal.

AT FULL SPEED.
Then the train backed down two miles and was under full headway when the signal was passed. Immediately after the test no jar or discomfort when the "emergency" application of air was made by the sudden opening of the air valve. The emergency application is the most sudden and violent that can be made. Shortly before the experiment was tried the operating men listened attentively while the most complex train orders known were transmitted a distance of 118 miles, received, repeated and acknowledged by telephone instead of telegraph.

Delay in commencing treatment for a slight irregularity that could have been cured quickly by Foley's Kidney Remedy may result in a serious kidney disease. Foley's Kidney Remedy builds up the worn out tissues and strengthens these organs. Commence taking it today. Sold by all druggists.

Boy's Life Saved.
My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians both of them gave him up. We then gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him and believe that saved his life. William E. Strong, Chicago, Ill. Ala. There is no doubt but this remedy saves the lives of many children each year. Give it with water or according to the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. For sale by Osgood Bros., 7th and Broadway and 11th and Washington streets.

Just Exactly Right.
"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for several years, and find them just exactly right," says Mr. A. J. Harris of Harrisville, N. Y. New Life Pills relieve without the least discomfort. Best remedy for constipation, biliousness, indigestion, 30c at Osgood Bros., drug store.

GOSSIP FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

SURPRISES IN THE WILSON-PRATT WEDDING.

A nine days' wonder must of necessity have a great many grave notes, and be played with variations, but for the variety of the story about the Wilson-Pratt marriage must be commended. Every one has a neat little version of the affair labeled "non-ecumenical" and the various versions do not dovetail together in a very exact manner. An intimate friend of the family insists that Mrs. Russell Wilson was not present at the ceremony at Martinez—that she knew nothing about the affair until Mr. Pratt joined the family party on the train. This version has it that Mr. Wilson had given her consent to a marriage when she and her daughter returned from Europe. Mrs. Wilson's European plans had been rudely shattered so many times since her husband's death that she was determined not to alter them this time. Miss Emily agreed, but a day or two before the schedule for departure she and Mr. Pratt decided that they might as well get married and then they could both go to Europe. So they all paid away to Martinez to avoid fuss and flurry and started on their honeymoon with a mother-in-law along as excess baggage. The surprise is that when the party arrives in England Mrs. Wilson will go to friends and the young people will tour France in an automobile, as they are both devoted to that sport.

Orville Pratt is the son of the late O. C. Pratt by his second wife, who was a Mrs. Jones before her marriage. Mrs. Jones had two daughters, one of whom is now Mrs. James Keeney and the other Mrs. Harding of Philadelphia. It is almost as hard to figure out as the puzzle "If that man's father, etc.," but young Mrs. Orville Pratt is now the step-aunt of her erstwhile chum, Miss Mary Keeney. Judge Pratt had very rigid family notions and followed his own ideas in bequeathing his large fortune. He left a life interest to his wife and all his property to his son, Orville. By his first wife he had a son and daughter; they were amply provided for at the time of the divorce. Young Orville Pratt is considered the brilliant member of the family. He received a splendid education here and abroad and is now expected to be married with a single eye against a background of nothing, comes all the way from Europe for a big wedding in Trinity Church. When the Llewellyn Jones occupied Gertrude Atherton's studio in Munich we were kept regularly supplied with the news of her doings. Now it was an artist who was painting her, again she was studying with Pissarro for the German stage, now she was in Paris and we surely had reason to believe that she was at last going to make her debut on the French stage. And instead this whimsical young woman presently returns to San Francisco and announces her engagement to Robert Gibson, Jr., a lawyer whose home is in New York City. All of which is as unexpected as could be expected for her friends had decided for her that if she ever did marry it would be a young San Francisco chap whose sturdy devotion was in contrast to the admiration of the local near-literati whose sentiments are merely a by-product of their long hair. The young man, whom her friends had selected is also interested in amateur theatricals and a member of the San Francisco Stage Society. It is now said that before she went to Europe they mutually decided that they were temperamentally opposed and Mr. Gibson's role is no surprise to the former author.—Town Talk.

LISTED AGAIN AS ENGAGED, BUT—

Miss Amy Porter, who is spending the summer at Blithedale with her friend, Mrs. Franklin, is once more listed among the engaged girls, and her friends are waiting for her to officially stamp the list with her seal. This time the seal should be red, white and blue, for a prominent army officer is bracketed with her name. However, Miss Porter may again refuse to conform to the horoscope her friends are constantly casting for her wherever she tarries for any length of time, the matchmakers start her ear of destiny toward that of some bachelor, but so far the star has not traveled very steadily in any of these untold journeys. While Miss Porter lived in Berkeley the classic gossip picked out a University of California professor in French literature for her, but she went her way and the professor his—which led to the altar in Paris with a compatriot.—Town Talk.

WILL A RECONCILIATION FOLLOW?

Society is still keenly discussing the engagement in the Butters family and wondering whether the first flag of truce will be run up from the mining millionaire's headquarters in Berkeley or from the wife's beautiful villa in Piedmont. For some years the couple have always occupied a very prominent place in the smart set on both sides of the bay and consequently their movements are followed with more than ordinary interest. Mrs. Henry Butters belongs to a well-known exclusive California family. She was a Miss Lucy Beebe, cousin of Miss Wethered, Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Edward Selfridge and of the Edlin Woodworths. All three of her marriages have been colored with considerable romance. Six children, three sons and three daughters, blessed the marriage with Mr. Butters, her first husband. A devout Catholic, she has religiously raised all her children in that faith. The eldest daughter took her veil in an Oakland convent, where he died many years ago. Lucy Edwards married Augustus Bray, son of Watson Bray of Fruitvale. George Edwards became the wife of Channing Cook, a brother of Judge Carroll Cook and William Hoff Cook, and a nephew of Mrs. Theodore Shillaber, who bequeathed the Cook heirs her fortune. Later a divorce separated the Channing Cooks. Of the three sons, the eldest went into the African gold fields with Henry Butters, returned very wealthy and married a niece of Mrs. Henry Wethered of Fruitvale. The youngest son is reported engaged to Miss Dollie Tarpey of Alameda.—Town Talk.

BACK FROM HER SOCIAL TRIUMPHS.

Bubbling over with happiness, Miss Jennie Crocker returned from London Tuesday, and was warmly greeted by a bevy of enthusiastic friends who awaited her coming at the depot. She was fairly smothered in flowers and salutations and was asked more questions in a minute than she could answer in a day. Of course every one wanted to know the details relating to the Reid-Ward wedding; how the King and Queen looked and how it felt to be a bridesmaid with royalty present. Miss Crocker had long tales to tell, so she took a large party of her chums down to her San Mateo home, where they will be her guests for the next few days. Miss Crocker came across the continent in her private car Mishawaka and was accompanied by the Alexanders of New York. Mrs. C. B. Alexander is the daughter of the late Charles Crocker and an aunt of Miss Crocker. The Alexanders will remain on the coast some two months, spending their time at Del Monte, Burlingame, Yosemite and other famous view points in California.—Town Talk.

STILL SHOWERING SURPRISE ENGAGEMENTS.

"This world is so full of a number of things" that it should not be difficult to gulp down a surprise powder, but every now and then society gets a choking fit. Here is Emily Wilson, bred in an atmosphere of the strictest conventionality and she goes off and marries a very eligible young man without a "by your leave" to any one. On the other hand Grace Llewellyn Jones, pride of the esthetic cult in Bohemia, whom every one might naturally expect to be married with a single eye against a background of nothing, comes all the way from Europe for a big wedding in Trinity Church. When the Llewellyn Jones occupied Gertrude Atherton's studio in Munich we were kept regularly supplied with the news of her doings. Now it was an artist who was painting her, again she was studying with Pissarro for the German stage, now she was in Paris and we surely had reason to believe that she was at last going to make her debut on the French stage. ## RAISED A BLINGUM SQUALL.

There is a pretty little teapot squall down Burlingame way that began on the beach to which Blingum drives for a morning dip. On one side stands a dainty young mother clutching her "chick-lid" by its chubby hand. The picture would be in better melodramatic drawing if the mother wore the black albatross of the poor young stage mother, but as a matter of fact her clothes are always very clinging and costly. On the other side stands a young woman of twenty and some, who has in the last two or three seasons become very closely identified with the Burlingame set. She is one of several sisters who have a piquant way of talking right out in meeting. This young lady was lying on the sand discussing beachology with a chap, when mother's little darling toddled up, dumped a shovel full of wet sand over the girl's face and danced around delightedly, saying something like "Ubbys, Guggys," while the girl shook the sand out of her facial crevices and interstices and the man dusted her hair. The mother, who sat a little distance away in her bathing gill called out, "Come, sweetie, no mustn't bozzor the ladies." Whereupon the young one exhibited its playful sense of obedience by whacking the girl over the head and nose with the shovel. Perhaps there are people who would sit up and smile pleasantly at such agreeable juvenile attention. The mother thinks so, for she has cut the acquaintance of the girl and the man for the way they abused her darling. The man held the youngster firmly while the girl gave him the first and probably the only spanking he will ever get in his life. When the little mother rescued her playful little angel, she told them what she thought of their "abuse" and she has not yet stopped talking about it. She says the nurse actually had to apply vasoline to the red marks, and besides her child's pride received internal injuries, which, with his sensitive nature, will be long in healing.—Town Talk.

CUPID RIDES POSTILLION.

Oakland society is speculating whether when Mrs. Mamie Grayson Hinckley takes her daily horseback ride Cupid goes postillion. Mrs. Hinckley has grown children, but looks like a stage mother to them. Her father, John Grayson, was a stock broker and a very wealthy man and she inherited a plump slice of the estate. She has been a widow about two years.—Town Talk.

LIVING UNDER ROSY SKIES.

Miss Marguerite Le Breton's journey around the world in the wake of the battleship fleet, with which her brother is connected, was interrupted in San Francisco long enough to renew acquaintance with the prominent attorney to whom she was once engaged. When he went to Washington to be married Miss Marguerite had changed her mind. But a girl's mind is like an old-fashioned home—it must be altered and repaired at least once a year. There are those who think that during the removal of the acquaintance out here Miss Le Breton put on a final addition and when she departed the skies looked very rosy for her admirer.—Town Talk.

THE NEW YORK TO PARIS RACE.

The latest reports indicate that the American car will win in the New York to Paris auto race. Of the cars which started February 12, in the snow, rain and washouts of winter, three remain in the running and the contest has virtually narrowed down to a hard, driving finish between the American and the German cars. Against all kinds of accidents and in spite of violent weather, impassable roads and a useless detour into the wilds of Alaska, the machines will have covered over 23,000 miles in circling the globe and 12,000 miles of this distance will have been made under their own power.—Town Talk.

THE STEVENSON HOME CHANGES HANDS.

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson has decided to live in her new rose-covered home in Santa Barbara so she has sold the quaint house she built in this city overlooking the sweep of bay reaching out the Golden Gate. Eugenea Peyton is the purchaser. The Stevenson house on Hyde street is the mecca of many strangers because they have an idea Robert Louis Stevenson lived there many years ago during the period he was sejourning in this locality. As a matter of fact the gifted author never saw the place. After the death of Stevenson in Samoa his widow came here and conceived the idea of erecting a home in the city so dear to him. The splendid view obtained from the Hyde street site appealed to her and she had the odd looking house built after her own fancies. Its unique outward appearance is surpassed by its interior furnishings. Mrs. Stevenson covered the walls with all kinds of strange Samoan wares, the gifts of natives who devotedly admired Robert Louis Stevenson. The living room is papered with a beautiful Samoan tapestry and interesting island curios are scattered lavishly about the place. A small fortune was spent in giving the garden a true tropical aspect, the foreground of the windows facing the north. Hugo palms and gorgeous island plants bloom there in riotous profusion. Adjoining the house is the residence of Mrs. Lloyd Osborne, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Stevenson. The two homes are virtually in one structure.—Town Talk.

WHEN MRS. TAFT TAKES CHARGE.

There will be no startling innovations when Mrs. Taft becomes the mistress of the White House. There will be no fads to be exploited, no reforms to be inflicted under the guise of hospitality, no sensational departure from domestic precedent. Mrs. Taft is not one of those women who like to be talked about, and her virtues are none the less conspicuous because they seek the shade rather than the sunlight. Hospitality with the Taft family has always been a matter of spontaneity rather than of acquired art. It is of that rare and informal kind that sends the visitor away with the sense of having given pleasure by his visit. For example, Mrs. Taft makes a practice of accompanying informal visitors to the front door, so that their parting impression may be that of the hostess herself. Perhaps it is a small thing, but then courtesy is made up of small things. Those who are most charmed by Mrs. Taft as a hostess might find it a little hard to say wherein the charm lies, but its explanation is in fact very simple. Mrs. Taft is more interested in her guests than she is in herself, she would rather hear them talk than talk herself, and she has the happy faculty that comes only from innate courtesy of finding out the mental tendencies of others and trying to gratify them. That Mrs. Taft is popular with young people is a sure proof of her grace of heart. She can talk baseball with the boys and evening parties with the girls, and from their own level.

Mrs. Taft is not entirely a stranger at the White House. Her father was the law partner of President Hayes, and she spent the greater part of each year at the White House, although she was of course only a child at the time.—Argonaut.

SEVERAL MEMORIES.

When the newspapers came out with an account of the lonely end of Spettwood D. Schenck, one-time husband of an ambitious society matron, Mrs. Schenck, the father of Natalie Schenck-Collins, the visit of the latter to California was brought to mind. She was made much of by the Blingum set, as was her husband, Captain Collins, an ex officer of the British army. The captain showed a tendency toward alling, and the doctor suggested that he needed less of the fiery and more of the white fluid. He was advised to get a cow and drink the milk thereof. This the captain did, by a mighty effort. Shortly after the couple went to the Orient, and, not knowing what else to do, took "Mooch" along. All three were given a rousing send-off by the Blingumites and told to come again—which they did in installments. That is, beautiful Natalie Schenck-Collins came first and then the captain, apparently recovered; but "Mooch" never came back. Perhaps they sold her to a female as a goddess when they discovered the unpardonable fact that neither one had any money to speak of, and certainly none to support each other on. Mrs. Schenck-Collins' father took a keen interest in his daughter's fortunes, so it is said, even though he hadn't seen her from childhood, and, moreover, he was discreetly unmentioned in the wedding ceremony. He had completely dropped out of the world—that is, the smart set in which wife and daughter continued to glitter and sparkle. He was found dead in his room at the Wagoner Hotel, in Lakeville, Conn. At latest accounts, some six months old, Captain Collins was shoveling coal in an Eastern potters and taking his laborer's life philosophically.—The Wasp.

MISS JONES' ENGAGEMENT.

An engagement announcement which created a flurry of surprise was that of Miss Grace Llewellyn Jones and Robert Gibson, Jr., a New York attorney. When Miss Jones went to Europe it was with the avowed intention of studying for the professional stage. She had already earned amateur laurels out here in a production of "Phedra" at the Greek Theater, and a German play given by a local society. The latter was really a wonderful linguistic performance, for Miss Jones was the only one in the cast who could not claim Teutonic ancestry. One of the other young women in the play told me at the time that just during the few short weeks of rehearsal, Miss Jones improved so in her German that on the night of the play few in the audience could have been convinced that she had not spoken the language from the cradle up. Although she found it so easy to acquire the most difficult languages, the language of the heart was supposed to be a sealed book to her, so many had tried to teach it to her in vain. But evidently Mr. Gibson of New York had a method of his own which took a short cut to the altar, for I understand their acquaintance is not of very long duration and the wedding is to take place on August 15, at Trinity Church. It is of a piece with her affection and loyalty to San Francisco that Miss Llewellyn Jones came all the way from Europe to be married here, surrounded by the old family friends. After the wedding they will depart for New York, where the young couple will make their home.—News Letter.

BOHEMIAN FOREST PLAYS IN PRINT.

For the first time an authoritative and complete description of the Bohemian Club Midsummer Jinks is to appear in print. With the permission of the club, Porter Garnett has written, and will shortly publish, an exhaustive treatise on the forest plays presented by the Bohemians on the Russian river. The volume deals with the setting, history and development, origin and analogies—the relation of the plays to other forms of stage art, particularly the Elizabethan masque—and synopses of seven grove plays, including that of 1908, which is to be given August 8. There are to be twenty-four full-page illustrations depicting every phase of the Bohemian midsummer campment, and an appendix consisting of a chronological list of all jinks since 1872, with their titles and the names of their stars and musical directors.—The Wasp.

A DOCTOR'S TROUBLES.

The control over the administration of the estate of the late Mrs. McEnery has developed the usual three and four-sided story. Mrs. McEnery was a widow when she married the good-looking Dr. William A. McEnery. The McEnerys came here from Salt Lake, where they had been friends of the Trumbos and Shaughnessys. They rented the Hoffman house on Broadway and entertained extensively. Mrs. McEnery became the intimate friend of Mrs. E. Walton Hodges. When Mrs. McEnery died her daughter by her first husband, Isabel Lois McLoughlin, was still in her teens. The girl's mother left an estate of about $300,000, and Dr. McEnery became the guardian of his stepdaughter. According to the doctor, the Utah relatives of Miss McLoughlin have not rendered a proper accounting of the McLoughlin estate, and to avoid doing so have been constantly annoying him in some way or other. Some months ago an English trained nurse brought a suit against him for breach of promise. Last week, as he was packing up for a trip to Europe, a summons was served upon him to appear in court on a date that would knock his holiday plans to smithereens. "It is all a part of a plan to bother me," says Dr. McEnery. When boiled down the facts seem to be that most of the doctor's relatives-in-law are angry to the core because his wife left him the bulk of the estate. They think he will marry again, and nothing seems more likely, as he is a handsome young fellow and quite polished, and so agreeable that he makes many friends. It sets relatives-in-law wild when they see such a state of affairs. It is said that a certain lady of the ultra-exclusive set, who divorced her husband about a year ago, would not hesitate to become Mrs. McEnery.—The Wasp.

JUST TO SHOW THE PEOPLE.

According to Thomas L. Swinton of Omaha, who came to town last Monday en route to Rawhide, Mrs. Ruth Leavitt, daughter of William J. Bryan, is a young woman of exceptional wit. Mr. Swinton, having read in Monday's dispatches the story of Mrs. Leavitt's conquest of some of her father's political enemies, was reminded of an amusing incident that occurred in Lincoln a few years ago. The conductor of a street car seeing Mrs. Leavitt in hot pursuit of his car shouted to her that another car was coming and only a block away. And he pointed to the other car. But Mrs. Leavitt paid no attention to the goading conductor. She kept on running, and finally he stopped the car. She got aboard all out of breath.

"Very foolish," observed the conductor, "to run so hard. That other car is right behind."

"I don't care if it is," said Mrs. Leavitt, with a smile of triumph on her face. "I wanted to show the people of Lincoln that there's one member of the Bryan family who can run for something and get it."—Town Talk.

THE GODDESS WAS MRS. POTTER PALMER.

Those who fancied fate had anything to do with making the match between Miss Jean Reid and the Hon. John Ward, the King's quarry, may just take it all back. It wasn't fate at all, but Mrs. Potter Palmer. Mrs. Palmer, so we are told, "brides herself on having been the means, under Providence, of bringing about the engagement. Miss Reid having been her guest at Biarritz when the Englishman, there in attendance on the King, popped the question. Therefore if the American girl, in the years to come, is not satisfied with her bargain, she will have something more tangible than mere fate to blame matters upon—she can blame Mrs. Potter Palmer.—The Wasp.

HIS BUSINESS WAS TO WED.

Evidently the surprise microbe is in the air, with Cupid governing its movements. Miss Louise Cooper and Hewitt Davenport were to be married in August. Mr. Davenport has charge of a land company in Idaho, and he ran down for a week-end visit to his fiancée. He was to return alone on Monday night, but instead, carried with him a bride. They decided that there was no use in waiting, and an impromptu wedding was arranged at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Davenport. The bride's brother, William Cooper, happened to be in town on a visit and he gave his sister away. The Cooper ranch is one of the show places of Santa Barbara, and it was there that young Mrs. Davenport spent her girlhood.—News Letter.

MISS HASTINGS' REDUCED INCOME.

The reference in The Wasp to the reduction of Miss Bessie Hastings' income to $300 was calculated to cause a misapprehension, it appears. A correspondent, who is informed on the subject, writes me that the court decision dealt only with Miss Hastings' interest in her mother's estate. The young woman's income from the Hastings estate is not affected by the judicial ruling, and neither is her income from the property left her by her grandmother, Mrs. Hemphill. To use the correspondent's words: "Bessie Hastings has plenty to live on, and the loss of $200 a month for a short time will not in any way inconvenience her. All of her family approve of Mr. Hoel's management of that part of her estate, and are united in preventing Mr. Daniel, her stepfather, from getting hold of any part of her capital."

I understand that the relatives designated as "all her own family" become somewhat excited when they refer to Miss Hastings' stepfather, and apply no particularly loving epithets to him. He is the English barrister who married the handsome widow of the late Congressman Robert Hastings, son of Chief Justice Hastings of the California Supreme Court, and founder of the large Hastings fortune.—The Wasp.

COLD BOTTLES FOR NINE PINS.

Mr. Power told the story of the famous nine-pin game on the lawn at Belmont, after the late Senator Sharon acquired the Ralston place. It was the night of the reception given by the Senator to General Ulysses S. Grant, and Miss Flora Sharon, now Lucy Thomas Hesket, was so much absorbed in the guest of honor that for a time she forgot her other guests. When she found time to look after them some of the young men were playing nine-pins on the lawn, the "pins" being bottles of champagne at five plunks a bottle, which exploded with a grand noise as the bottles broke in an artillery salute in honor of the general.

THE PILL BOX AND OTHERS.

It was John Donnelly, who came out in 1876 to manage William Corbett's stock farm, who built the house now known as "Farnam Studio," and who planted the trees along beautiful Burlingame avenue. The present Telvis estate was owned by Harry Barroliet, who lived there for many years. St. Athanasius school property was owned by Gustava Make, president of the French Bank of San Francisco. In the early days Mr. Reddington, the wholesale druggist, owned a lovely home up toward the hills. He had a blonde staidor, doorless and windowless, built near the car line in Oak Cove avenue, and of course it was dubbed "The Pill Box" by the country folks.—The Wasp.

CALLED HER A VAMPIRE.

What would you do if your husband, before a crowd of gaping spectators in a law court referred to you as a vampire—"a vampire sucking his blood by day"? Wouldn't any woman, with a nice, neat figure and a stylish attire, object to being defined as "a vampire" and a bone and a hank of hair?" Dr. William Miner of Santa Cruz and Berkeley called his wife a vampire. He said she was a "vampire." Mrs. Miner does not resemble in the least the portrait of "The Vampire" drawn by Ruess Jones. She is a very attractive woman physically, and her friends say she is just as attractive mentally, while morally she is said to be the very reverse of everything that her husband alleges against her. Thus do her friends declare.

It is now about a year since Dr. Miner, one of the most prominent residents of Berkeley, brought his handsome wife into the limelight of the courtroom and the newspapers, one of the allegations being that she had been so coquettish and just a wee bit insouciant with Professor "Billy" Ames and other "gray young bucks" of the university. It was all insinuation, no more but that of Professor Ames being given, and the latter promptly proved that he had only died with the charming Mrs. Miner when others were of the company. It is said over a Berkeley that the reason that the doctor so ardently desires to prove his wife's indiscretions is because he wishes to retain possession of their two children, who have been with him Ben Lombard for some time.—The Wasp.

TOLAN MONEY.

Some of the depositors of the looted California Safe Deposit Company are clamoring. I am told, for the restitution of $5000 which was contributed by J. Dalzell Brown to the fund raised by Rudolph Spreckels for the prosecution of the grafters. It is now evident, in view of the financial condition of the bank at the time the contribution was made that Brown gave away money belonging to the depositors, and in the circumstances it is the duty of the receiver to demand the stolen property. Meanwhile J. Dalzell Brown's friends are complaining of the rough treatment he is receiving at San Quentin. They believed at the time that he pleaded guilty that it was agreed not only that he should receive a light sentence, but also that he should receive tender treatment in the penitentiary. And they are hinting that he may tell things if the compact is not kept. Among the things he may tell, they say, is one thing with reference to the money contributed by the Western Pacific to the Bell campaign and also to certain patriotic and virtuous journals that supported Bell. While there may be a lot of interesting disclosures which the former associate of the reformers and the graft prosecutors is able to make, especially with reference to the remarkable deal made with the District Attorney's office which he was given a light sentence, the story is hardly to be credited that he was promised tender treatment at the penitentiary, for that was something none but the prison officials could have granted.—Town Talk.

HEART--TRIBUNE'S PAGE FOR WOMEN--HOME

She Could Use Hammer! So She Built Bungalow

LONG BEACH, Cal.—A neat little bungalow located in the outskirts of Long Beach, built by a pretty little woman, is attracting attention. The builder is Mrs. Frank Nottingham, who is a prominent worker in the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Gertrude Gilbert, nation for the Y. W. C. A., wanted a home, owned a lot and had about $120 with which to erect a house. She knew this would be impossible if she were compelled to hire carpenters at $3 per day. Mrs. Nottingham talked the matter over with her and finally said she would undertake to build it and would not charge her a penny for her labor.

Though she had never built so much as a chicken house before the plucky woman was confident. Armed with a rusty saw, hatchet, plane and level, she started to work. She devoted exactly 100 hours to the undertaking, and a short time ago turned the house over to its owner. The bungalow is 18x20 feet in dimensions and contains seven windows and two doors. Mrs. Nottingham had no assistance, placing the big heavy rafters alone and performing feats that a carpenter would shun.

"My mother was handy with a hammer," said Mrs. Nottingham, "but other than this I cannot account for my ability to drive a nail."

Business Success Does Not Mean Domestic Happiness

Business success for the woman does not mean domestic or individual happiness, and, in the whole, business life makes for restlessness, selfishness and discontent. You cannot measure the influence of business on the woman by figures or statistics. You cannot count wrecked lives among women who have made money, and trace them to certain causes, such as incompatibility, desertion, cruelty, etc. You cannot say that a woman in business is a failure or success according to the salary she draws. You cannot expect the trim, self-contained girl at your elbow to admit that her perfectly appointed little apartment, her perfectly ordered line of dinners, clubs, theaters and open parties spells failure.

She says she is a success. In her heart she knows that when the last guest has gone and the trim little maid has been dismissed, the exasperated little apartment becomes a white sepulcher in which the stored soul of the woman sits alone weeping.

Girl's Appetite Killed Her

Two large bowls of gelatine, two dozen bananas, one dozen oranges, one pound of molasses candy, one pound of sweet cakes, these various articles eaten after an unusually hearty dinner, caused the death of a fifteen-year-old girl in Philadelphia not long ago. Her "appetite" was always her great trouble, said her father. "She sometimes would eat as much as my eleven other children put together."

WHO IS THIS ENGLISH BEAUTY OF MYSTERY?

This fascinating beautiful English face has plucked the curiosity of all England. Who is she? What is her name? Where does she live? Is she low or high born, peasant or princess? The story of this new face in the galaxy of beauty is the old story of rivalry between England and America. It is the story of how the haughty Britisher attempted to prove that England produced a fairer specimen of beauty than America. For the past year the American newspapers have raged with Beauty contests. Scores of newspapers throughout the country invited photographs of beautiful women, with a result that a Miss Marguerite Frey, of Chicago, won the prize as the prize beauty in the entire competition of winners.

Stirred to rivalry by the American contest the London Daily Mirror declared that England could produce a fairer beauty than the winner of the American contest. The Daily Mirror sent out an invitation to all the pretty girls in England to send in their photos—the American champion must be overshadowed. Fifteen thousand photographers flooded the Mirror office and a committee of nine famous artists were selected to act as judges. One of the committee was the distinguished caricaturist, Sir Charles Gilbert. He declared that it would be easy to find an English girl of beauty superior to the American blue ribbon winner. He selected the photograph herewith shown, deciding that the mysterious young lady who sent in her picture anonymously was a perfect example of a refined beauty, expressive of tranquility and repose.

So the unknown beauty was selected as the winner of the international contest, though the decision of an all-English court cannot be accepted as final by Americans.

That the young lady is beautiful there is no dissenting opinion. That she is modest and retiring and possesses refined grace, is also acknowledged. All that is known of her is that she was eighteen years of age last month (June) and is the eldest of four children. Living at home with her parents and fond of beautiful and outdoor pastimes, golfing, swimming, bicycling, walking and motorizing, she is a picture of perfect health.

The Daily Mirror man was permitted to know her identity and a promise of secrecy was given. In a short interview she told him that though her mother was prettier than she, neither of them had ever taken any trouble about their looks. She declared that she knew nothing about beauty science or schemes to preserve it, used any nice soap that was handy, scrubbed her cheeks with cold cream, or any other similar substance. She ate what pleased her, even lobster and cucumbers, and drank tea, coffee, and cocoa, and dined occasionally. She enjoys dancing, though does not go to many dances. Her favorite author is Conan Doyle. She is a native of North country, Yorkshire—"Human Life."

No. 19==Mrs. I. W. Adge

A committee of young ladies from the north have sent THE TRIBUNE a photograph of Mrs. I. W. Adge of Newcastle, Placer county. They declare that she is the prettiest woman in Placer county, and in consequence they have great hope of capturing the prize. Mrs. Adge declares she will come to Oakland if she is the first on the list of winners.

MOOR ELOPES WITH INDIAN GIRL FROM CONEY ISLAND DREAMLAND

NEW YORK.—The police have been asked to send out a general alarm for Shabib, the Moroccan bandit, and Sunrise, the daughter of Black Hawk, chief of the Sioux Indians at Dreamland, Coney Island. The Moor and the Indian girl, it is believed by Hassan Ben Tili, who brought the Moroccans to this country, eloped after the fight on Saturday morning when the two tribes were separated by the Dreamland employees. Shabib is under bond to be returned to Morocco in September and the Indian girl is also under bond. Both were able to speak a few words of English, but nothing was known of the romance until the trouble on Saturday. The Moor had $300 when he left Dreamland on Saturday night. Both were dressed in their native costumes when last seen.

'Marry a Telephone Girl,' Says New York Authority

A New York authority advises men who desire to marry to pick out a bright telephone girl. He bases his advice upon the fact that a telephone girl becomes a good natured body. Her experience with all the trials and tribulations of all sorts of people qualifies her for ever being considerate of other people's shortcomings. There may be something in that. Office girls generally make good wives because they have experience with human nature and learn that there is much good in most everybody and devilishness in all.

Laugh and Be Merry; It Is Good for You

Most people have the impression that fun and humor are life incidents, not necessities; that they are luxuries and have no great bearing upon one's career. Many think of fun as frivolous, indicating a lack of serious purpose in life. There are parents who rebuke their children because they want to have fun and go in for a good time. These parents have yet to learn the great part which fun and humor play in the physical economy and their influence on the life.

What a complete revolution in your whole physical and mental being comes after seeing a really funny play! You want to the play tired, jaded, worn out, discouraged. All your mental faculties were clogged with brain ash; you could not think clearly. When you came home you were a new being.

As a businessman, on returning home after a perplexing, exhausting, exasperating day's work, experiences the same thing. Ramping and playing with the children, spending a jolly evening with his family or friends, telling stories and cracking jokes, seek for two to do duty for a family to its normal condition.

I have been as much refreshed by a good hearty laugh, by listening to good, wholesome fun—stories, jokes—or by spending an evening with friends and having a good time, as by a long, sound night's sleep; and I look back upon such experiences as little vacations.

Anything that will make a man new, that will clear the cobwebs of discouragement from his brain, and drive away fear, care and worry, is of practical value. It is the shrewdest kind of business policy to do what will refresh, refresh and rejuvenate one for the next day's work.

We should not look upon fun and humor as transient things, but as solid, lasting, permanent influences on the whole character.

Why should not having a good time form a part of our daily program? Why should this not enter into our serious and gloomy because we have to work for a living? Why not do it with joy and gladness? Why not sing, as our work, as the sailors say, "Laughter is a good health-builder. Give me an employee who loves to laugh, who enjoys a joke, who always

WOMAN IN PANTS NOW WEARS DRESS

Police Made Her Serve Five Days in Workhouse for Fooling Stronger Sex.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Augusta Selb, the young woman who masqueraded as a man for nine years, was in the little restaurant she runs, 641 1/2th avenue, yesterday.

"Well, see if Augusta Selb, in spite of those blamed petticoats, can't get along as well here as Gus Selb did," said she with a smile, and she kicked the skirt of her neat and becoming dress.

Mrs. Selb was overcome by heat at Broadway and Sixty-second street last Saturday night. She wore a man's clothes, but in the hospital, treating her for one form of heat-stroke, they put her in an ice bath and Gus Selb was frozen out so to say.

A learned Magistrate sentenced Mrs. Selb to five days' imprisonment in the Workhouse for having dared to wear the trousers in public.

"I guess over a honest girl who works for a living and who has to fight her way in life, insulting New York will understand why I pretended to be a man," said Mrs. Selb yesterday.

"I have an old mother in Germany to support. Here I married a man who promised to do everything for mother and me, and he turned out to be a bigamist. Then, one day, I saw a young man who looked very much like me, and I thought to myself, 'Why shouldn't I be a man and earn more money and be rid of the pestering attentions of men who were born that way?' So I cut off my lovely blond hair and practiced wearing men's clothes for awhile, just as I'm practicing wearing these skirts now."

"Pretty soon I got a place as a waiter at the Waldorf. Outside the dining-room I used to say 'damn it' just like a man, and once in a while I went out with other waiters and had a glass of wine or two."

"I had some funny experiences. A waiter was in love with a nice girl and she made eyes at me. He got jealous and started in to thrash me. I had a cut over my eye, but just like a man, I told everybody, 'You ought to see the other fellow.'"

"Now we're not going to sell out our restaurant. I have done nothing wrong and I'm going to make an honest living in spite of these"—and she kicked her despised petticoats.

LIGHTNING QUEER FREAKS

WINSTED, Conn.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scriber of West Colbrook, went to Norfolk to buy meat. The latter had soared so in price that Mr. Scriber decided not to purchase any, saying it was cheaper to eat our broilers, but I am tired of dressing them."

Returning home, the Scribers found their henhouse had been struck by lightning. Nine fowls and broilers were killed and six of them had been dressed by the bolt so far as removing the feathers was concerned.

WATERBURY, Conn.—Lightning

played queer pranks in Woodbury during a recent storm. One bolt entered the front door of a dwelling owned by H. B. Beardsley, tore out the window and hurled the tenant of the house, William Shaw, out onto the back veranda without injuring him in the least.

The family sewing machine was moved from the parlor into the dining-room, but Mrs. Shaw says she wanted it there anyway. To add to its good work the lightning killed thousands of elm tree beetles which were turning the old town's majestic trees into barren stumps.

A Wild West Girl for a Wild West Cowboy

PRESCOTT.—Miss Kate White, a typical wild west girl, often read out in fiction, but seldom met with in real life, the Minnehaha Plains young lady who has a record of throwing and tying a steer in forty seconds, who can ride any bronco in the territory of Arizona, throw a lariat with any cowboy in the Southwest, grace the ballroom of the "400," who has ranged her mother's cattle ranch, braded her own cattle, athletic gentleman with a following of devoted cowboys who would die for her if necessary, gave her hand, heart and life into the keeping of Cowboy William Jackson. The ceremony was performed in the chapel of St. Joseph's Academy by Rev. Father Mandin, an intimate friend of both the bride and groom.

The happy couple, after a wedding breakfast and amidst a shower of well wishes, departed on the morning train for Southern California, where some weeks will be spent at Venice, Long Beach, San Diego, Santa Barbara and other famous coast summer resorts.

Mrs. Jackson is the daughter of the late pioneer, James P. White, and Mrs. Mary H. White, who still resides at the ranch in the heart of the Bradshaw mountains. Mrs. Jackson was a student in the St. Joseph's Academy when her brother met with a tragic end at the hands of parties unknown about three years ago. Being the eldest daughter, she quit schooling and took up the management of the White ranch and herds. From early childhood Mrs. Jackson has been practically a live in the saddle, becoming a thoroughbred cowboy as the most during of that fraternity in Northern Arizona.

GREECE NOW PERMITS USE OF WOMEN TELEPHONE OPERATORS

The Parliament of Greece has decided that women shall be eligible as telephone operators. Even the Chinese in San Francisco, in spite of their Oriental conservatism, are said to employ Chinese girls for the Chinese telephone exchange. It seems a bit amusing for the Greeks to be behind the Chinese in the opportunities granted to women.

International Lyceum Forms Link in France

PARIS.—The inauguration of the International Lyceum Club for Women took place a few days ago at the new club house of the Rue de la Bienfaisance. Though the Lyceum is but a branch of that of London and as a club proper has been in existence but a few months, it already numbers 650 members. The Lyceum was not generally known among the American contingent until Mrs. Frank Mason, wife of the American consul-general, arrived in Paris. Mrs. Mason at once took hold of the American "end of the string" to break and brought the women of the colony together, in creating them to such an extent that enthusiasm was born, and it began to look as though the club was going to be an important factor in the literary and social life of the French capital.

Last November, when the club had almost become a certainty in Paris, though up to this time it had no financial support and therefore no domicile, one of the members offered her parlors as a rendezvous. The meeting was so successful and such sympathy was shown that it was decided to convene at certain times at one of the small hotels in a convenient locality. However, continued enthusiasm was doubtful, the body having no really ground, though at this time numbering 650 members.

With much difficulty a house was found for Paris proprietors one and all would have no such "woman center" on their premises. It is insurmountable difficulty finally overcame a suitable abode was secured early in the spring in the Parc Monceau district, and as soon as the place was ready for occupancy the membership began to increase.

A member of the Lyceum in any of the other European cities is a recognized member of the club in Paris and is allowed all the privileges of the club, the chain being only a continuation of the others. The idea of the founders of the Lyceum is that he club may have branches established in every capital in Europe, not only for the good of the resident members but also for traveling members, who, at living alone in a foreign city, may stop at the clubhouse, their membership being all that is necessary for certificate of eligibility.

The Lyceum is by no means a rich woman's club. Yearly fees amount to $3, this being food for art displays, lectures and lectures held at the clubhouse. In Paris a room with board is from $10 up. A visitor is entitled to use the club three weeks, and even longer if her room is not wanted by a newer arrival. She may take any or all her meals at the club, and may have friends to meals or to visit her in the parlors.

The house is intended as a social and intellectual establishment where women visitors may reside as in a home, where distinguished visitors from other countries may be entertained and where they may meet together or with foreigners.

Dr. Sardaou, of Paris, declares that a man's moral and physical worth can be gauged according as he enjoys a disposition to seek the sunshine or to flee from it, the rays of the sun having a specific influence on the psychological as well as the physical composition of the individual. And so the doctor has divided human kind into two categories: friends of the shade and friends of the sun.

Belonging to the first category are all nervous subjects, the mentally unsettled, drunks and dyspeptics who are also a rule agoraphobes, or haters of public places. Dawn, says Sardaou, is the proper time to study the heliophile on the heliophobe. There exists in normal beings possessing good health, and who are sound of mind and limb, besides being mentally well poised, a disposition, once the sun rises, to advance towards it. Its rays when they fall ill, however, the tendency is to shun them.

In a test he once made among a large number of young folks he found that the children of degenerates, who were themselves disposed to the bad rather than the good, evinced not only a complete apathy but a distinct aversion to the influence of solar rays in the early hours of the morning. On the other hand, the well disposed and well conducted grew melancholy and morose when withdrawn from the sunshine. It was not a question, he says, of being cold or uncomfortable, since all provisions had been duly taken, but on results, was clearly a lowering of the moral barometer owing to deprivation of the sun's rays.

Experiments of a tentative nature were carried out in the prisons of East Flanders, in Belgium, with a view to deciding what effect rigid incarceration and open-air toil had upon persons of different temperaments and records. It was found that the open-air treatment had the effect of rendering the incorrigibles really hopeless in management, but that on the contrary when incarcerated they performed their allotted labor conscientiously enough. On those who had taken to criminal careers rather by the suggestion of others than by their own natural tendency, work in the sun had an excellent effect in improving their characters. It was found in the correctional establishments for the young at Ghent that in months the moral horoscope of any given boy could—when in his normal health—be almost mathematically cast according to his disposition to seek the sunshine or to shun it. The essentially bad were impervious to sun rays, while the

If you wake up feeling bad,
Scold your wife;
If the weather makes you sad,

As you move with angry strides,
Scold your wife.

If the coffee's cold or flat,

If your chop has too much fat,
Scold your wife;
If you chance to get your sleeve
In the butter, do not leave
Soft sighs or in silence grieve—

Kisses Tiny Tots and Is Put in Jail

NEW YORK.—For his action in Central Park, near One Hundred and Second street, a man who said he was Charles E. Mills, sixty years old, a sea captain, was arraigned before Magistrate Heerman in the Hall Court yesterday and held in $500 bail for trial. He was arrested on complaint of Kate Miller, nine years old, and Rodolph Norton, ten, who live at 1405 Madison avenue.

According to the complaint, the sea captain took the two girls on his knees and was kissing them. In his defense the prisoner said the children reminded him of his daughter, who died when she was nine years old.

Mills asked to be discharged, saying he had a contract to go to Honolulu to bring back the steamship Galathea, on which the Baileys escaped from this country with about $200,000 worth of merchandise.

Luck for Renters

The owner of a block of flats in Paris has hit upon an idea which is popular with his tenants. On the door of every apartment is a number, and on the first of each month the landlord draws a number by a lottery, and the occupant of the flat bearing the winning number pays no rent.

Lovers' Alarm Clock

The lovers' alarm clock is a device to refresh the memories of happy couples who are too absorbed in each other to notice the passage of time. As the clock strikes 10 p. m. two little doors open and a small man in dressing gown and cap glides out, holding in his hand a card, with the device, "Good night!"

MISS NORMA SWEENEY

A book of good form for the summer would not seem to be amiss these days. One may judge by the stories that float back to us from the many summer resorts. Some of the stories are indeed amazing, and it is the very quiet people who are mostly concerned in them. Why standards should differ in town and country, or in summer and winter, is a puzzle to many people, especially to those who have imagined that social conventions were established for a good purpose, and that they were to be followed by people of good taste and of good moral reception.

It seems as if people took a delight in motting in jumping over social traditions. In fact, that they forgot all about them in the greater freedom of the country. So the stories drift back to us of some of our friends who are away, and they come so persistently that in many cases we believe in their truth.

But conventional standards, since they are established by man and not by a higher power, are after all varying, and subject to change.

Just now the great question that is troubling Parisian hostesses is "should a girl dance at a private house with a man who has not been introduced to her?"

The question is being answered by several of the best known women of Paris. Madame Adam is one of them, and she says somewhat sadly: "Nowadays a hostess has to be less and less particular in her choice of dancing partner. As the species is daily becoming rarer. Even to know how to dance is all an open sesame for a man, and a hostess cannot afford to pick and choose."

And Madame Adam further laments the change from the good old days when mamma scrupulously played the wallflower behind her girls.

A leading princess in Paris stands up for an introduction, which she says is "a social rite, and a rite is sacred. Moreover, it is a mysterious rite, for no one ever yet caught the name of the person introduced, but at any rate it is a graceful symbolism about the ceremony."

CUBS ARE DISPERSED.

Not for many years have so many people been out of town and the Claremont Club and other leading clubs are practically deserted. July being the vacation month, marks the great exodus from the city, and the first August marks the beginning of the return. People go out of town following the old Eastern custom, where the heat of the great cities is insufferable in summer. And from our interior to the seashore.

San Francisco, Piedmont and the people from the smaller suburbs, can enjoy the delightful summer at home, for them the winter offers greater possibilities in the line of going away.

A hot wave has swept over California, and it nearly had the effect of sending all our friends home from the neighboring springs and mountain resorts.

Mr. and Mrs. Church H. Taylor and their children are at Highland Springs and are going later in the month to Aetna.

Miss Emma Mahony joined her sister at Aetna Springs early in the week, and Mrs. Henry Butters and her daughters are settled in a cottage there.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heatley and their little daughter are at Howard Springs, where they are to spend some time.

At Bartlett Springs are Mr. Charles Hannan, with his children, James and Loretta Hannan, and at Highland Springs are Mrs. Hayden and Miss Scoville Hayden.

ENTERTAINING AT BROOKDALE.

Among those who are entertaining at Brookdale in these July days are the Burt S. Hubbards, the Perrines and the Coffins. The A. P. Coffins have one of the most picturesque homes at Brookdale, a charming house, representing the quaint old Spanish style of architecture.

The Frederick Maurens have also an artistic home at Brookdale, in which their friends have been welcome this year.

All the way from Brookdale to Santa Cruz one finds interesting estates in which are many Oakland people.

At Boulder Creek are Mrs. Rosenfeld and Miss Nicholson, and this week Mrs. John Francis Smith and her children went to the Santa Cruz mountains to spend some charming summer days at Boulder Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Havens are now comfortably established in their picturesque home at Sag Harbor, and they will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens, who are leaving for the East this week. There will be a family reunion in the Havens home at Sag Harbor, for Seyd Havens, who has been studying at a southern university, is to be at home, and Paul Havens returns from a year's study abroad.

AMERICANS AT DIEPPE.

Among the Americans at Dieppe for the automobile race for the Grand Prix were Mr. and Mrs. William Hearst Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Jr., Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Mrs. John Heath, with her children Jack and Constance Heath.

Mrs. Heath and her children are to make a tour of France, visiting the chateau country, and in September Master Jack Heath is to resume his studies in Switzerland.

Mrs. Charles Schoonmaker, who has spent the past year abroad, is returning to America this summer, and she will make a visit at the family home on Vernon Heights.

Mrs. Schoonmaker was formerly

Jean Howard, one of the bright girls of the older Friday night set.

PIERCE'S HOME IS CLOSED.

The Francis Pierces have closed their San Francisco home and have taken a house in Los Gatos, where they will spend the next two months.

Though the Pierces have lived for the past three years in San Francisco, they have many friends on the coast, and they are often guests at Oakland social affairs.

Mrs. Selby is among those now comfortably established at Los Gatos, in the picturesque country home planned there by the Selbys.

Mrs. Selby has with her Edith Selby, and her son, Arthur Selby, and they are all enjoying many delightful expeditions in the big touring car recently purchased by Mrs. Selby.

She has learned to drive it with much skill, and it has been the means of adding many pleasant days to the summer's sojourn.

VISITED THE CONVENTION.

Robert Fitzgerald, his sister, Mrs. Davidson, and Miss Jane Crellin made up a party spending some pleasant days in Denver, during the recent Democratic convention, to which Mr. Fitzgerald was a delegate.

From Denver, Mr. Fitzgerald and his sisters have gone to the Yellowstone Park, in which they will make a stay of some days before returning to California.

MRS. MARTIN WAS HOSTESS.

Among the prominent people who spent a great deal of time in town each summer is Mrs. Eleanor Mullin. She was the hostess at one of the notable luncheons of last week, and she very delightfully entertained her friends at the Edmont.

Luncheon was served at a table overlooking the bay, and the luncheon table was a most charming study in decoration, the centerpiece being of pink roses and dainty ferns.

The guests of honor were Mrs. Le Breton and Miss Marguerite Le Breton, who left San Francisco later in the week, sailing for the Orient on the new Japanese liner, Tenyo Maru. The guests from Oakland were Mrs. Saxe Requa and Mrs. A. N. Towne, Miss Florence Brockbridge and Mr. Richard Burke of Ireland.

Mr. Burke, who is a very distinguished Irish gentleman, has been in San Francisco before, and he is a great favorite with many prominent San Francisco people.

Other guests at the luncheon were the Misses Maud and Cella O'Connor, who have just returned from abroad to spend the summer with their sister in San Francisco. They have lived abroad so many years that their home can hardly be said to be any longer in California, nevertheless old friends of the family are always glad to welcome them every time they return to the coast.

The Misses O'Connor are great friends of Mrs. Requa and of Mrs. Long, and they are always most welcome guests at Highlands, while they remain in California.

VISITING IN MENDOCINO COUNTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Palmer have gone away this week for a brief trip to Mendocino county. Mrs. Palmer is spending the summer for the most part in her attractive Alameda home, where the latch string is always out for guests and where the latter are entertained in a generous, whole-hearted fashion that is charming.

Mrs. Palmer will visit Blue Lakes, and she will join Mr. Palmer at Ukiah.

The children of the Palmer household have been camping on the Russian river, in a camp planned along the most enjoyable lines. Next to their camp is the ideal one of the Walter Scotts, who have been spending the summer at their old camping ground, "Eagle's Nest," on the Russian river.

They do not expect to return to town till the vacation days are over, and school days begin again for Miss Adele Scott, the charming little daughter of the household. Little Miss Scott has as her guests, Alice Palmer the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Palmer.

RETURNED FROM TRIP TO ORIENT.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Phelps returned recently from a trip to the Orient and Europe, and are at their Piedmont home for the summer. They have one of the most beautiful homes in the Piedmont district, which has been closed.

SIERRAS ATTRACT MANY PEOPLE.

The Sierras continue to attract many people in the mid-summer days, and though one hears many reports of hot weather, the guests at the various summer resorts seem to be having a delightful time.

A merry party of young people who are enjoying a summer in the Sierras includes Miss Taft, Miss Dorothy Taft, the Misses Ethel and Ruth Valentine, Mrs. Fred Magee and her little son, John, returned recently from Tahoe, and Mrs. Nichols and her children are also home again, having spent the summer vacation days at Shasta Springs.

ON A TOUR OF INSPECTION.

E. E. Calvin, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Pacific, left yesterday for a tour of inspection of the lines in the southern part of the State, and will be absent from the city for two weeks.

The Colvins have established a very attractive home on Madison street, and they have many friends in Oakland.

AN AUTO TOUR OF FRANCE.

Among the visitors at Dieppe recently were the George Whitells, Ray Baker and Elinor Glyn. After the Grand Prix race the Whitells and Ray Baker began an automobile tour of France, and Elinor Glyn went to London, to find an actress to take the leading part in her play dramatized from "Three Weeks."

It might be mentioned that Elinor Glyn thinks Mark Twain is our most distinguished citizen. She announces that "His eyes indicate hidden beauties of character." He has not, as she says, "a bourgeois soul."

A true estimate of Mrs. Glyn's work is from a recent well known review. "Mrs. Glyn, because of one silly over-weighed book is now on the top wave of popularity, so far as literary newspaper portraiture and cable despatches signify popularity. She is the subject of common talk. Yet her first work, "The visits of Elizabeth," a trifle, and not of an elevating character remains her best work, and nothing she has done is of world-wide importance."

The men are all beginning to talk politics now, and the women are far more interested in the political situation than is generally credited to them.

It is a notable fact that Americans abroad are taking an unusual interest in the political situation, and one reads that the figures just compiled by the American Express Company in conjunction with the leading steamship companies show that the American tourist season for Europe is about 15 per cent less than it was last year.

Mr. W. S. Dalaba, the European manager of the American Express Company, in a much quoted interview to a leading paper, says:

"There is not only a decrease in the number of visitors this year, but also in the amount of money they are spending. Europe is merely feeling the effect of the Presidential year. Last year at this time, the American season was at its height. Now the home-ward drift has already begun. Americans abroad are not taking any chances on the possibility of missing their votes."

HEARST'S COMING BACK HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hearst, called from Europe on the Mauretania, and are expected in New York this week.

The national convention of the Independence party is to be held in Chicago on July 27, a convention that is attracting the attention of the entire country. Mr. Hearst is the delegate from New York, and Gesner Williams will be the delegate from California.

In August, the William R. Hearsts are planning to come to California, to the Haclveda, where their two little boys are planning to spend the summer with their grandmother, Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst.

REMEMBERS ALL HER FRIENDS.

Gertrude Athol, in Germany, but she is such a very good Californian that her friends here are always receiving the most delightful letters from her.

She writes from Munich in a glow of enthusiasm over the great fete which every Whitmonday takes place at Rothenburg, and which commemorates the taking of the town of Tilly nearly 300 years ago. "It is," she writes, "the most realistic performance I have ever witnessed."

WILL PLAY WITH EDISON.

Henry D. Harris has engaged Olive

MRS. W. H. RICHARDSON

Oliver to appear with Robert Edison in "The Gal of the North," opening at the Hudson Theater on August 24.

Olive Oliver is an Oakland girl who has achieved much success in a dramatic career. She is the sister of Bert Oliver of this city, and many of her summers have been spent in her home here.

Three Oakland girls, who were high school girls together have achieved much success in our own country and in England. They are Grace Fisher, Olive Oliver and Nannie Craddock. The latter is the guest of Mrs. Frederick Stratton, who is to entertain for her at the Claremont Club this week.

HOUSE PARTY AT FORT BRAGG.

Miss Emily Johnson is entertaining one of the most interesting house parties of the summer at her home at Fort Bragg.

Among her guests are Johanna Volkman and her brothers, Daniel and William Volkman, who went by automobile, taking Herbert Schmidt with him as their guest. Other members of the house party are Miss Mary Wilcox and Miss Florida Hunt.

IS VISITING HER FATHER.

Mrs. William H. Richardson arrived in Oakland this week, and is the guest of her father, Stephen Gage, at the family home on Harrison street. It is our years since Mrs. Richardson was in Oakland, most of her trips away from home taking her to New York. Texas is really a long way off, and the trip is a hard one, so Mrs. Richardson has now been a guest in her old home for many months.

There is much joy over her homecoming, for the Gage family is a very coveted one, and the three sisters of her family spent many happy days in the home which was always very dear to them.

Mrs. Penne and Mrs. Gross are making many plans for their sister's entertainment, and later in the summer Mr. Richardson is coming to California and will return with Mrs. Richardson to their home in Australia.

MALES ARE AT SANTA BARBARA.

Mrs. W. B. Hale and Miss Sadie Hale are at Santa Barbara, where they are planning to spend some months. They are both many friends here who are always greatly interested in news of them.

Mrs. William English and her daughters have gone to Los Gatos, where they are planning to spend a month. Miss Christine English recently returned from a very delightful visit to Vancouver, where she was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Arthur Malins (Harriet English).

Mrs. Thomas Corder, who has spent a past two months in the East, will turn to her home in Oakland next week.

Mrs. Corder is returning to the coast by way of the Northern Pacific, and

SOCIETY SMART SET

Berkeley Girl to Marry in England

There is great rejoicing in the Berkeley home over the arrival of Mrs. James Gleason and her baby sister, Lawrence. Mrs. Gleason, who is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beardsley, has made her home in Berkeley since her marriage. For several months Mrs. Gleason has been with her daughter in Berkeley and they made the return trip together. They are also accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Gleason. The guests will remain in Oakland for several months and during that time there will be many pleasant affairs arranged for Mrs. Gleason, who will be remembered as pretty Lucile Webster. Mr. Gleason is expected to visit his wife and son within a fortnight. He is at present enjoying a hunting trip with friends.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Beardsley visited thirty or more friends to the house for a little greeting to the guest and a social cup of tea. Of course the baby was the center of attraction and was loved and petted by visiting relatives and friends.

TO VISIT ATTRACTIVE CAMP. Mr. and Mrs. George Amos Scott are planning to spend a few weeks at the camp of J. Walter Scott on the Russian river. ## BOY DIES AFTER TOOTH PULLING Traveling Dentist Arrested for Using Alleged Overdose of Anesthetic.

CHICAGO, July 18. — After having four teeth extracted by a traveling dentist yesterday four-year-old Stuart Hassler was taken violently ill and died two hours later. James Fowler, who has been selling toothache remedies at a tent, was arrested.

According to the boy's mother, Fowler pulled the boy's teeth after giving him an anesthetic. She said that the man had much trouble in reviving her son after extracting the teeth.

Fowler denied that he was in any way responsible for the boy's death.

His sister, Mrs. Dudley Kinsell at her summer home in the Santa Cruz mountains.

There were about 240 children in the party and they were under the care of Miss Margaret Glendinning, Miss Flora Miller, Miss Dolly Sumner, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. C. S. Shamberlain, chairman of the Vacation Playground and Mrs. W. D. Smith. The luncheon was provided by the Berkeley ladies of the Oakland Club, Mrs. Shoecraft, chairman. For once in their young lives the children had all the milk they could possibly drink.

At the park every amusement was free to the children and a man was provided to run the steam launch for the boat rides. Such a merry day the youngsters had and all through the courtesy of the Oakland Traction company and East Shore railroad. Three large vestibule cars took the party to and from the park.

It is not decided what the program will be for the children's amusement next Friday, but the committee has a plan which will be highly enjoyable if carried out.

It's Your Kidneys

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. An Oakland Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's Disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Oakland people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. E. Vickroy, living at 1114 16th street, East Oakland, Cal., says: "My husband has been much annoyed by kidney trouble. He had pains through the small of his back, felt tired and languid and taking it altogether was feeling very miserable. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to his attention, and he procured a box. They freed him from every sign of the trouble and he is glad to give them his recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
